

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) in New Jersey

What is SSI?

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is a federal program that provides monthly payments to people with limited income and resources. SSI is for people who are 65 or older, as well as people of any age, including children, who are blind, or have disabilities.

To be eligible for SSI, you must also have little or no income and few resources. The value of the things you own must be less than $2,000 if you are single or less than $3,000 for married couples living together. We don't count the value of your home if you live in it, and, usually, we don't count the value of your car. We may not count the value of certain other resources, such as a burial plot.

To get SSI, you must apply for any other government benefits for which you may be eligible. You must live in the United States or the Northern Mariana Islands to receive SSI. If you are not a U.S. citizen, but you legally live in the U.S., you still may be able to get SSI. For more information, read Supplemental Security Income (SSI) for Noncitizens (Publication No. 05-11051).

In many cases, the state of New Jersey adds money to the federal payment. The payment you get at the beginning of each month includes both the federal SSI payment and your supplement from New Jersey.

Medical assistance

If you get SSI, you can get medical assistance (Medicaid) automatically. If you have questions about Medicaid, contact your local county human services office.

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

If you get SSI, you may be able to get additional help through SNAP, formerly known as food stamps. SNAP can help you buy more food without spending more money. However, we don't decide if you qualify for SNAP. If everyone in your household is applying for or getting SSI, you can apply for SNAP at a Social Security office. If not, you must apply at your local county human services office.

Other social services

People who are eligible for SSI may be eligible for additional resources and services provided by their local county human services office, including:

- Child care.
- Educational training and employment assistance.
- Home-delivered meals.
- Housing services.
- Behavioral health and addiction services.
- Assistance for people who are blind or have a disability.
- Transportation.
- Information and referrals.

For more information, contact your local county human services office.
